Community Choice Aggregation

March 23, 2015

Erik Pearson, Environmental Services Manager
Department of Utilities & Environmental Services

Community Choice Aggregation

- June 2014 - County Board of Supervisors voted to study the feasibility of establishing a county-wide CCA
- CCA enables local governments to aggregate electricity demand within their jurisdictions
- PG&E would continue to provide billing, transmission, & distribution services
- County is forming steering committee to help guide the preparation of feasibility study

Community Choice Aggregation

- Steering committee will have 26 – 33 members, (2 – 3 appointees from each of the 5 Supervisors and one (1) one representative from each city
- City representatives will “be participating on behalf of their jurisdiction and should have decision-making authority.”
